Two Sides to Every Murder

by Danielle Valentine

Born during the infamous Camp Lost Lake murders, 17-year-old Olivia wants answers about her bloodline, while Reagan seeks to clear her mother's name in the long-ago massacre, but when the camp reopens, both girls realize someone will commit murder to keep the past hidden.

Bittersweet in the Hollow

by Kate Pearsall

When a girl goes missing in her secluded Appalachian town, 17-year-old Linden, who can taste other people's emotions, recovers haunting memories of her own disappearance and explores the legend of the Moth-Man, leading her to wonder if some secrets are best left buried.

That's Not My Name

by Megan Lally

Shivering and bruised, a teen wakes up on the side of a dirt road with no memory of how she got there—or who she is. A passing officer takes her to the police station, and not long after, a frantic man arrives, claiming to be her father. Her name is Mary. Or so he says. But she has no memory of him. When his girlfriend, Lola, disappears, the whole town suspects Drew. Now he'll stop at nothing to find her. Are the two stories connected?

We Are Hunted

by Tomi Oyemakinde

While at a resort on a newly discovered island with his father and brother, Femi must find a way to escape the island when the animals become feral, turning their trip into the stuff of nightmares, and his own guilt at the part he may have played in it.

White Smoke

by Tiffany D. Jackson

Believing her new home to actually be alive, especially when her brother almost dies, Marigold and her new blended family won't be safe until she brings the truth to light once and for all.

Girls Who Burn

by MK Pagano

When Thatcher, the rich kid she blames for her sister's death, is found dead, Addie teams up with her rival—Thatcher's cousin—Seth to find the truth, dodging corrupt police and his corrupt family, which puts a target on her back.

When Devils Sing

by Xan Kaur

In a small Southern town, four unlikely allies investigate the disappearance of a local teen. Disappearances like this aren't uncommon -- especially every thirteen years when a periodical cicada brood returns from underground, shrieking their deafening screams. Soon they are uncovering a dark and ancient evil lurking beneath their community, far more sinister than they ever imagined. But just how deep does the rot go, and can they find a way to escape its reach?

The Project

by Courtney Summers

Moving in with an elderly relative after the deaths of her parents, Lo becomes suspicious of a charity organization that she believes is hiding the activities of a cult that may be behind her sister's estrangement and a young man's death.

Friends Like These

by Jennifer Lynn Alvarez

When an incident at an end-of-summer party leads to the death of a fellow student, causing friends to start turning on friends and lies to start piling upon lies, Jessica discovers her boyfriend has a lot to hide.

Have You Seen This Girl

by Nita Tyndall
