La Princesa and the Pea

by Susan Middleton Elya

A rhyming, Latino twist on a classic fairy tale in which a queen places a pea under a young lady's mattress to see if she is truly a princess. Incorporates Spanish words, includes a glossary, and features artwork inspired by the culture of Peru.

Mama's milk

by Michael Elsohn Ross

Celebrating the warm and loving bond between mammal mamas and their babies, a lushly illustrated, lyrical book shows little ones doing what comes naturally: nursing. By the illustrator of Miss Bindergarten Gets Ready for Kindergarten. Simultaneous.

The cazuela that the farm maiden stirred

by Samantha R. Vamos

A cumulative tale of a farm maiden who, aided by a group of animals, prepares "Arroz con Leche," or rice pudding. Includes recipe and glossary of the Spanish words that are woven throughout the text

Quinito's neighborhood

by Ina Cumpiano

"A Puerto Rican poet and author of almost twenty books for children lets young Quinito introduce his family and the people who own the shops in his neighborhood, in a bilingual text brought to life with brilliant, full-page illustrations of Jose Ramirez that are reminiscent of the colors and style of the murals by Diego Rivera."

Hands are not for hitting = : Las manos no son para pegar

by Martine Agassi

Illustrates the many uses of hands, including eating, drinking, dressing, building, and drawing, and teaches that using hands for hitting is wrong

Colors!

by Jorge Elías Luján

A bilingual book presents a vision of a planet in which nature, words, and the rising and setting of the sun and moon exist in harmony as readers see fleeting, evocative glimpses of the qualities inherent in a range of colors.

My grandma = : Mi abuelita

by Ginger Foglesong Gibson

Journey along with a young boy as he flies far from home and drives along on bumpy countryside roads to be reunited with the grandmother he loves so dearly, in a bilingual title by the author of My School/Mi Escuela and Siesta.

How do you say? = : Cómo se dice?

by Angela N Dominguez

"The story of two giraffes - one English-speaking and one Spanish-speaking - that overcome the language barrier to forge a friendship"
