

Wordless Picture Books

A Ball for Daisy

by Christopher Raschka

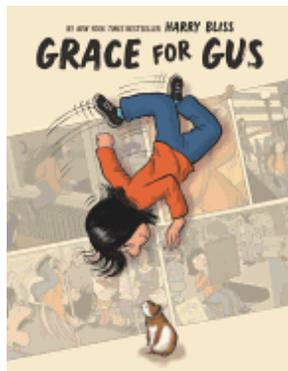

Told through impressionistic illustrations by the Caldecott Medal-winning author of The Hello, Goodbye Window, a poignant, wordless tale features an endearing young dog that is heartbroken when a bigger dog destroys a favorite toy.

Flotsam

by David Wiesner

While scouring the beach for flotsam--anything floating that has been washed ashore--a young science enthusiast stumbles upon an old underwater camera that contains secrets from beneath the sea.

Grace for Gus

by Harry Bliss

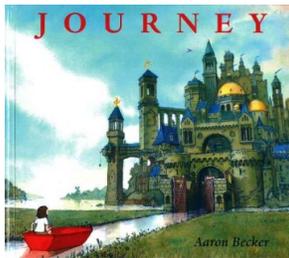

A near-wordless graphic picture book follows a quiet elementary school student who uses the power of her creativity to raise money to buy a companion for her class pet. By the New Yorker cover artist and creator of Luke on the Loose.

Ice

by Arthur Geisert

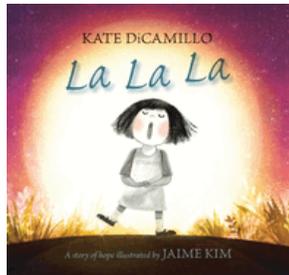

This wordless tale depicts a pig community's hunt for ice in the Arctic when the weather on their island becomes too hot for them to bear.

Journey

by Aaron Becker

Using a red marker, a young girl draws a door on her bedroom wall and through it enters another world where she experiences many adventures, including being captured by an evil emperor.

La La La: A Story of Hope

by Kate DiCamillo

A nearly wordless graphic story follows a singing little girl's courageous search for a friend among the trees, pond and other unresponsive things in her world, until one wondrous night when her song is finally heard by someone who understands. By the author of the Newbery Medal-winning The Tale of Despereaux.

Lines

by Suzy Lee

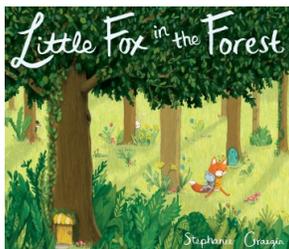

In this wordless picture book, each image starts with a single line, whether made by a pencil or the blade of a skate--and the magic flows from there.

The Lion & the Mouse

by Jerry Pinkney

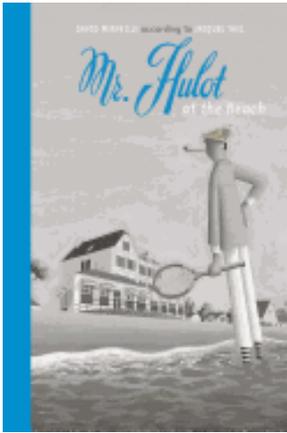

Vibrant illustrations bring to life this wordless adaptation of this classic Aesop fable about a merciful lion who spared a mouse's life and the unexpected reward he received for his good deed from the tiny hero.

Little Fox in the forest

by Stephanie Graegin

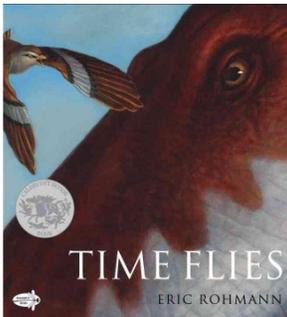

When a young fox swipes her stuffed animal from the playground and races away into the woods, a young girl and her friend follow, arriving at a hedge archway where a marvelous village filled with miniature stone cottages, treehouses and woodland creatures share a magical existence.

Mr. Hulot at the Beach

by David Merville

The eccentric Mr. Hulot visits the beach where a seagull steals his shoe, he drops his pipe in the water, and other mishaps occur.

Time Flies

by Eric Rohmann

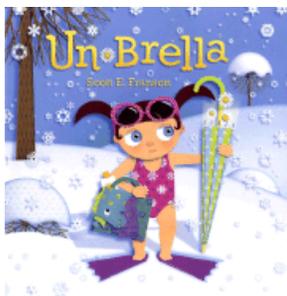

A wordless tale in which a bird flying around the dinosaur exhibit in a museum has an unsettling experience when it finds itself back in the time of living dinosaurs.

Rainstorm

by Barbara Lehman

In a wordless picture book, a lonely boy finds a mysterious key which leads him on an adventure one rainy day. By the author of The Red Book.

Un-brella

by Scott E. Franson

In a wordless book, a little girl uses her magic umbrella to give her the weather she wants, regardless of what the conditions really are outside.

Waltz of the Snowflakes

by Elly MacKay

When Gran gives her granddaughter tickets to the ballet, the young girl initially does not want to get dressed up and go, but when she experiences the Nutcracker she becomes entranced with the magic of the theater.
